

Nicolas BELDICEANU

Handling Combinatorial Aspects of Time-Series Constraints
Based on Regular Expressions Characteristics.

“We introduce the concept of regular expression characteristics as a unified way to express concisely combinatorial properties on time-series constraints. This allows going from a compositional way of defining time-series constraints to a compositional way to deal with their combinatorial aspect without developing ad-hoc methods for each time-series constraint separately. “